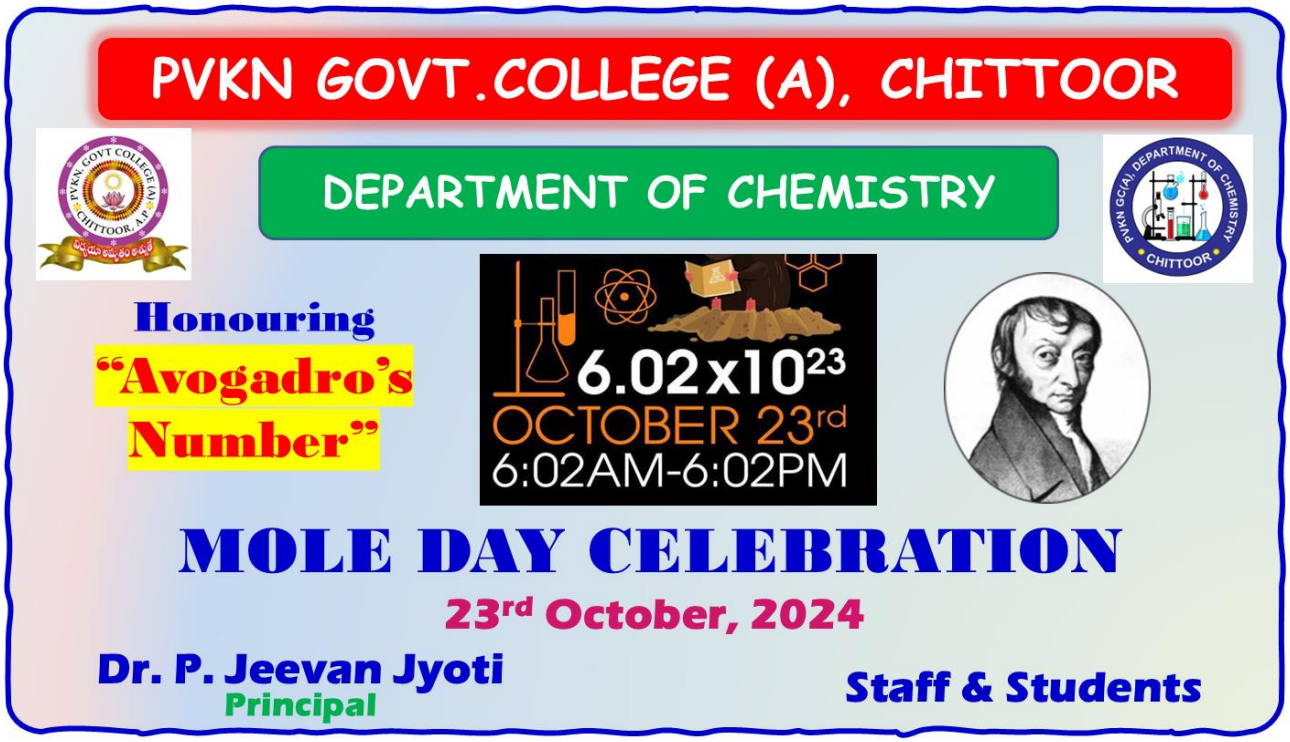
CELEBRATION OF MOLE DAY

A SMALL NUMBER WITH HUGE MEANING
23-10-2024

Introduction:

Mole Day is celebrated annually on October 23 from 6:02 AM to 6:02 AM. It commemorates Avogadro's number (6.02×10^{23}), which is the number of atoms in exactly 12 grams of carbon-12 (one mole). This was founded by the National Mole Day Foundation on 15th May 1991. Avogadro number is denoted as 6.02×10^{23} to define the number of particles present in a single mole of any substance. The mole is a basic measuring unit for atoms and molecules discovered by Amedeo Avogadro, an 18th century Italian scientist. This relationship was first discovered by Amedeo Avogadro and he received credit for this after his death.



Event Details:

- Date: 23rd October, 2024
- Location: Chemistry Seminar Hall.
- Activity Coordinator: Dr P. Bhanuprakash
- Name of the Lecturers who participated: Sri A. Ramesh, Dr. D. Srividya, Sri A. Kumar Raja, Sri M. Mallikarjuna Reddy
- Participants: 55 students have participated in the activity.

Objectives:

1. Mole Day was celebrated to foster interest in chemistry.
2. To raise awareness about significance of a mole in daily life.

Brief Report:

The "Mole Day" is celebrated by the Department of Chemistry, PVKN Govt. College (A), Chittoor to foster interest in chemistry. Dr P. Bhanuprakash, Lecturer In Chemistry started the program with a brief introduction to the mole concept. Dr. P. Jeevan Jyoti, Principal addressed the students about Avogadro's number and its relevance in both theoretical and applied chemistry, particularly in the synthesis of chemical compounds.

To understand the concept of the mole in an engaging and interactive manner, we organised the activity "Drinking One Mole of Water" with the students. One water molecule (H_2O) weighs approximately 18 grams per mole. Therefore, one mole of water (6.02×10^{23} molecules) weighs 18 grams. Students were encouraged to visualize Avogadro's number through this simple and practical demonstration, followed by a discussion on how chemistry is central to understanding both molecular-scale and macroscopic phenomena. Students and faculty members participated in the activity, where everyone symbolically drank 18 grams of water, representing one mole of water. The event concluded with an interactive Q&A session, where students asked questions related to the mole concept and chemical calculations with the staff of chemistry.

Outcomes:

- Celebrating the mole day helped in enhanced students' understanding of the mole concept.
- The drinking of one mole of water symbolized the bridging of theoretical chemistry with real-world experiences.
- Promote a better understanding of Avogadro's number by associating it with an everyday substance—water.
